

Being sick at the cinema

I had an unforgettable experience today!

My mother and I went to the cinema to watch a film this afternoon. It was a cartoon called 'Super Joe'. We watched the cartoon because I got good marks in my Chinese test I was excited.

When we arrived at the ticket office, we saw a long queue. I was worried and asked Mum, 'Have we bought the tickets?' 'Don't worry. I've booked the tickets online.' I was relieved.

Then we went to the snack bar to buy some food because I was hungry. Mum brought a tub of popcorn, some fish balls and a can of Coke. I looked at the food and found that they tasted funny.

Next, we went into the cinema hall. I enjoyed the popcorn at my seat. Although the food tasted funny, I didn't care and ate all of them. Suddenly, I felt a great pain in my stomach. I cried loudly and ran to the toilet. Finally, I missed the ending of the cartoon.

From this experience, I learned that I shouldn't eat the food that tastes strange.
