

An Accident

By Ng Wing Hin (6C)

Mary and I were waiting for a bus yesterday after school. We lined up at the bus stop. I saw a man waiting for the bus impatiently. "Quick! I'll be late!" the man said impatiently.

After a while, I was talking with Mary excitedly when I saw a girl walking across the road. She was about 24 years old. The traffic light was red but she did not pay attention to it. She was watching her phone attentively. Suddenly, a bus came. Mary, the man and I were shocked. "Hey! The bus is coming towards you! Stop watching the phone!" we shouted loudly. The girl saw the bus and she was screaming. Luckily, the bus stopped quickly. The girl fell down and she cried. "I thought I'd die." she uttered. After a while, the ambulance arrived. The bus also arrived! The girl hurt her legs only so Mary and I went home.

Next time when I see this kind of accident again, I will shout more loudly.
