

An Accident

By Yip Ka Yan (6C)

Mary and I were waiting for a bus yesterday after school. I was talking with her and lined up at the bus station. We waited for the bus for ten minutes. I was waiting patiently. Standing next to us was a man, he kept watching his watch. I could see a girl walking on the pedestrian across the road. She was playing her mobile phone excitedly and wearing her earphone.

The girl was crossing the road but she did not pay attention to the traffic lights. The traffic light turned red! She missed the traffic lights! Suddenly, a minibus came quickly. I was nervous and I told to my friend Mary and we started shouting loudly but the girl could not hear us.

Suddenly, the minibus stopped. The minibus missed the girl. The girl was shocked and started crying. After a while, the girl said sorry to the minibus driver.

Finally, I learn that when we were walking, we can't play mobile phone games and wear our earphones as we have to be aware of the environment.
